Our Services to Medical Practitioners

The medical profession is unlike any other area of business and is continually subject to regulatory, operational and finance related changes. For doctors in general practice, non-principal GPs, locums and hospital consultants, having a team of experienced advisors with specialist knowledge is vitally important.

Whether you are a multiple partner health centre, smaller GP practice, dispensing practice, single handed practitioner, locum or hospital consultant, the specialist team at HSKS Greenhalgh are able to provide proactive and relevant advice in order to maximise your wealth.

Our dedicated team understands the current issues and pressures affecting your profession and provides business advisory, accounting and taxation advice as part of the HSKS Greenhalgh Fixed Price Agreement, ensuring that you know the annual cost of our services at the outset.

Our team is led by Philip Handley and Jean Kelly, who have many years experience in advising the medical profession. They are ably assisted by individuals with specific expertise in GP partnership accounts preparation, partnership and personal tax compliance, preparation of pensionable pay certificates and professional expenses statements and who have extensive knowledge of how these areas specifically relate to your profession and circumstances.

In these times of decreasing income and funding, increasing costs and high rates of personal tax, it is essential to keep up to date with your financial and taxation affairs in order to identify profit maximisation and tax planning opportunities, on an ongoing basis. Furthermore the increasing burden in complying with HM Revenue & Customs and NHS requirements and deadlines requires ongoing assistance and support, which the team at HSKS Greenhalgh are able to provide.

For more information on our services to medical practitioners, please contact either Philip Handley or Jean Kelly.
